BANNING'S GARDEN NEWS 1941

TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

A new growing season is at hand. Plan now for a real garden both for health and saving. Statistics show these figures for a western corn growing state: In 1919, on 86% of all farms, vegetable gardens on the average produced $65.00 worth of food per farm. In 1934, the percentage of farm gardens had dropped to 54%, or an average of approximately one garden for every two farms. The value of vegetables produced had dropped from $65.00 to only $15.00 per garden.

Gardens in 1940 may have even been of less value. Plan now for a real garden this year. No garden too small to be a real saving to any family.

We invite you to visit our new display grounds and make selections from our stock. Anything that is not listed, we will be glad to quote prices; also, on larger quantities.

We appreciate the business given us in 1940 and trust that we will be able to merit your business in 1941.
